RHODIA has entrusted DAHER with barrelling its liquid products, the logistics for its packaged products and management of the bonded warehouses at its chemical hub in Pont-de-Claix

In order to successfully outsource its liquid packaging activity, a service integrated at the end of the industrial production process, and as part of a more general invitation for bids, RHODIA selected DAHER as a partner to handle various activities at its Pont-de-Claix location.

DAHER is already a RHODIA partner working at other locations and in other areas of activity. The Group has once again demonstrated its know-how in the chemical industry and, above all, its ability to take responsibility for dangerous products in a perfectly safe way. DAHER benefits from three certifications in fact: Quality (ISO 9001 - VERSION 2000), Environment (ISO 14001) and Safety (MASE and ISO 18001).

For the purpose of implementing this three-year project, DAHER has recruited some twenty employees to undertake three very specific assignments:

➤ TDI packaging (intermediaries in the manufacture of polyurethane foams)

DAHER handles TDI barrelling operations as well as order picking and container loading for shipments to European and global markets.

➤ Management of packaged products

DAHER takes charge of a number of products, including TOLONATES, which are expensive products used in the polyurethane paint market. DAHER also ensures their storage, order picking and loading of trucks and containers for shipment around the world.

➤ Management of the industrial supplies warehouse

DAHER oversees nearly 20,000 referenced items (spare parts, seals, filters, individual protection equipment, etc.) as well as the supplier's consignment inventories, including counter pick-up or delivery to end-users.

As of January 1st, 2007, DAHER has been providing the additional transport necessary at the location itself.

With this project, DAHER is reinforcing its position in the market for integrated partnership services by providing logistical and transportation services on-site at manufacturing plants.
